

I am running for male athlete trustee because I truly enjoyed everything collegiate cycling embodied. The athlete trustee performs an important job by working between the Collegiate Board of Trustees and the collegiate athletes. A key ingredient of this role is communicating between the athletes and Board of Trustees. Luckily this communication does not require a foreign language as my Italian is a little rusty and Latin was a bust in high school. However, I can do an exceptional job of communicating between racers across the country and the Board of Trustees.

I've been involved in collegiate cycling since 2006 while attending the University of Northern Colorado (UNC). I became involved with the team as treasurer my freshman year, vice-president my sophomore year and president my junior and senior years. Outside of collegiate cycling I was part of UNC's Student Senate serving in a similar position to the athlete trustee. Being a part of the Student Senate I found it was important to communicate to the students, the faculty and the administration. As part of Student Senate I learned critical communication skills that will transfer well into the athlete trustee role.

I am asking for your support of me as male athlete trustee. I have the experience needed having served in a variety of elected positions in my collegiate career both as part of the cycling team and otherwise. Thank you and enjoy your summer!
