

Todd Seplavy is a thirty-four year old USA Cycling Mountain Bike member from Rocky Point, New York nominated for election as the Industry Trustee on the Mountain Bike Board of Trustees. Todd has previously served on the Mountain Bike Board of Trustees as well as on the Board of Directors of USA Cycling.

With a diverse background in the bicycle industry, Todd's focus has been in areas of product development, marketing, and athlete/team management. He is currently the Senior Product Manager - Mountain Bike with GT Bicycles, part of Cycling Sports Group. Previous cycling industry experience includes roles with Evil Bikes, Specialized, and Iron Horse in areas including director of product development, sports marketing manager, brand manager, product manager, and customer service manager.

Todd has been active in bicycle racing for over fifteen years, beginning with cross country, cyclocross, and road racing in the Northeast and collegiately with the University of Massachusetts. While at UMass, he was introduced to downhill and dual slalom and has been a dedicated participant of the gravity racing community ever since.

As a Category 1 downhill and dual slalom racer, Todd is actively engaged in the sport on local, regional, national, and international levels. Over his years racing and in the bicycle industry he has worked closely with scores of individual athletes, teams, event promoters, media, and sponsors in the development and promotion of mountain bike racing. Todd is a passionate and outspoken advocate for the sport at all levels and for all disciplines.

We are truly in an exciting period for mountain bike racing in America! The period ahead will require progressive and open-minded ideas needed to grow the sport, introduce it to new riders and fans, adapt USAC to evolving riding styles such as freeride and dirt jump, and engage new-media outlets. Todd looks forward to helping lead our sport forward as your choice for Industry Trustee on the Mountain Bike Board.
